

RESTS IN SIGHT For Hard-Worked Members of Congress Who Want to Go Home for a While.

SIGNS OF SPEEDY RELIEF. An Adjournment Confidently Expected Now by To-Morrow.

TEXAS' PRODIGY TO THE FRONT. The Young Man Makes a Speech That Fully Shows His Mettle.

WATSON PLEASURES WITH HIS OWN STATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The spirit of hankfulness was no vague and tangible to the Capitol today as to be almost visible. A long draw-out sigh of relief expressed the feelings—feelings not always expressed in orthodox language—of every member of Congress at both ends of the Capitol.

Members and employees who have been weathering in the ill-ventilated halls of the House and Senate during the recent torrid weather are now enjoying the dead calm of the Fair appropriation act signs of speedy relief, and unless some mishap occurs that cannot now be foreseen, Congress will adjourn sine die on Saturday afternoon, or farthest, in the early days of next week. Members generally are packing their gripsacks to flee on Saturday, although both Houses today extended the adjournment to cover August 10.

The Texans who adopted to stay in the seclusion yesterday gave notice that they could filibuster against the substitute Durburn bill, which provided for an appropriation of $5,000,000 for the Fair, made distressing failure today. A march was taken upon them at the outset, and they were defeated in their plans before their eyes were open.

A Surprise to the Filibusters.

Almost as soon as prayers were said Mr. Hutchings, who returned to the city last night, reported a rule from the Committee on Rules, prescribing that it would be the order today to suspend the rules for the passage of bills, on the first and third days of each month, which are known as "suspension days." Here was the point which filibustering should have begun, and the Texas objectors, Kilgore, Bailey and Anthony, were busy planning how they would obstruct the Durburn bill, and a rule was adopted without a dissenting voice.

This rule absolutely put it beyond the power of any filibustering to make more than a four or five day filibuster, as a suspension of a suspension of the rules is not subject to obstruction as it would be if taken up in its regular order.

When it dawned upon the Texans that they were beaten by the rule, Mr. Bailey exhausted every possible obstructive device, but as a quorum voted every time, and as only a half-dozen, all Texans, voted against him, he could neither pass nor obstruct a bill, could neither get tellers, nor control the calling of the yeas and nays, so that he was soon at the end of his tether, and the resolution to suspend the rules and consider the Durburn bill in committee of the whole, a vote to be taken at 1 o'clock today was speedily adopted.

The Texas Frolic to the Front.

Mr. Bailey, the infant prodigy (he is only 9 years old) from Texas, delivered himself of a very well-constructed and sensible speech. He described to those who are weary of the $5,000,000 "steal," but who had agreed to a compromise upon $2,500,000 in good set terms the Illinois logic that could denounce the $5,000,000 as a "steal," a "raid on the treasury," and with any number of other phrases, and with a "steal" of $2,500,000, he had little fault to find with the Democrats who had all along favored the appropriation. He did not mention the $5,000,000, but he certainly made those Democrats look down their noses and squirm in their chairs, who had talked so highly and so gallantly against a $5,000,000 steal and had consented so easily and greedily to a $2,500,000 steal.

These half dozen Texans, of whom Mr. Kilgore and Mr. Bailey are the most conspicuous, are the only members of the House who are in the situation with them, but they had not much to say.

This tiresome and disgraceful episode of the end of the first session of the Fifty-first Congress will close with the adjournment. The only chance for further prolonging the matter will occur if the Durburn bill be defeated upon the direct vote of the committee of the whole. It is a clearly stated today that the caucus action would not be taken for the bill.

Not One of the Two That Hinds.

Members who accepted the compromise agreed to let a vote be taken upon it without obstruction may yet vote against the bill, and it is possible that the vote may be very close. The probabilities are, however, that its passage is insured, as any result would be a success. The Senate insist on the retaining the $5,000,000 amendment in the sundry civil bill.

Though this bill was sent back to a conference by the House, the Senate adjourned without taking any action, and the adjournment is until 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon—a forcible hint to the House that the Senate does not propose to be the fly that will walk into the net of the Democratic filibuster. Two o'clock is one hour after 1 o'clock, the time when the House agreed by resolution to take a vote on the Durburn bill. If the latter measure pass at that time the Senate will at once take it up, and when it is safely passed by that body, passed beyond recall, the Senate will then provide for a further conference on the sundry civil bill, and possibly, in case all this happens, the remaining work of the two Houses may be finished by Saturday evening.

The Durburn substitute bill, it may be said, does not meet the approbation of the friends of the Fair at this time, and they feel they are forced to accept this or nothing. If they secure the two and a half millions now it will answer for expenditures possibly until Congress meets in December, when another two and a half millions can be asked for, when the elections do not stare members in the face.

Reports From the Jig Committee.

A committee which promises to have several reports is the Watson "Committee on Jigs," as it has been called. Jerry Simpson has prepared a report which argues throughout that enough has been proved to justify even the sweeping language used by Mr. Watson in his campaign booklet. The Chairman of the committee will write a report for the majority, which will charge Judge Cobb, of Alabama, with the exorbitance of drunkenness, and will add that the evidence in that case supports the charge of Mr. Watson, that members attempted to make speeches when they were in a state of maudlin drunkenness, and drunken members reeled about the aisles. The report of Mr. Simpson will probably make a third report, showing that it had been proven that members had been seen on the floor in a state of maudlin influence of liquor, but not in sufficient numbers or frequency to justify language which implied a somewhat general inebriation to the House. Mr. Watson said this afternoon that he had no information as to the time when the reports would be presented to the House, nor in regard to the character of his punishment. The majority report will severely censure the offender, and leave it to the House to name the penalty. Possibly the House may be so lenient as to attempt to censure Watson, as the Republicans may filibuster against any motion to that effect. The Republicans have constantly given aid and comfort to the Alliance people in regard to the character of its punishment. It is now the policy of the People's party to formally support no candidate who is not an avowed member of the party.

Mr. Watson Pleasured With Alabama. Mr. Watson is greatly pleased by the result of the Alabama election. He is convinced that Kolb, the Independent Democratic candidate, will be found to be fairly elected Governor if the votes can be honestly counted. At least the majority of the straight-out candidate, instead of being 50,000, as was at first reported, will be reduced to nothing. Mr. Watson is emphatic, however, in announcing that Kolb was not accepted by the People's party. It is now the policy of the People's party to formally support no candidate who is not an avowed member of the party.

Political Effect of the Filibustering. That the effect of the Democratic filibustering against the World's Fair appropriation will be heard in the politics of Illinois and the States immediately around it, is not a matter of conjecture. It is being admitted by many Democrats. A prominent Democratic member of the House, not from Illinois, told me today that his party might be able to give up all hope of carrying Iowa, Michigan, and even Indiana, as these States were almost equally with Illinois interested in and enthusiastic for the success of the Fair. This member had lately been through the Illinois State Fair, and he declared that it seems to be the unanimous sentiment of the people that the Democrats had made such colossal fools of themselves in this Fair matter that they ought to be driven to the wall.

Jerry Simpson, of Kansas, who is one of the most practical, dispassionate and philosophical of men, takes very easily the tremendous efforts which he asserts is being made to defeat his re-election. He is informed that about 8,000 negroes have been imported from Southern States into his district to work on a new railroad, and that an attempt will be made to vote them against him. Mr. Simpson says, however, that he has about 10,000 certain majority, and he can stand a few thousand imported fraudulently to work on a new railroad, and that an attempt will be made to vote them against him. DEATH OF A CENTENARIAN. William Reese, the Pioneer Iron Mill Builder of Western Pennsylvania Gradually Passes Away at His Home in Bradford at the Age of 104 Years.

William Reese, the pioneer iron-mill builder of Pennsylvania, and the oldest resident of Western Pennsylvania, died yesterday at his home in Westmoreland county at the age of 104 years. The deceased was widely known throughout the Western counties of Pennsylvania, as he here made his home for the last 60 years. His descendants extend to the fourth generation, there being a number of sons, daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, over 600 in all. Jacob Reese, the son of William, was born in 1818, and came to America some 20 years ago. He was engaged in the iron manufacturing business in Wales, and upon his arrival in Pennsylvania began building iron and steel mills. During his business career he erected some of the largest mills in Pennsylvania, and was the pioneer of iron in the Eastern part of the State.

THIRD PARTY NOMINATIONS. J. H. Stevenson Named For Congress in the Twenty-Third District.

The Nomination Committee of the People's party met last night at No. 100 Fifth avenue. The committee was appointed at the convention of the People's party to fill vacancies on the ticket. J. H. Stevenson presided. The only nominations made by the committee were for J. H. Stevenson, congressional District, H. Stevenson, transferred from Second Legislative District, Judge of Common Pleas No. 1, W. L. Bird; Director of the Poor, Charles D. Dorman. A nomination for Coroner was postponed until the next meeting. In the vacant Legislative District, committees were appointed to select candidates. The committees are: First District, Dr. Shannon; Sixth District, George L. Barton, L. B. Thomas, E. H. Rose, Eighth District, J. H. Stevenson.

BAR HARBOR, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Of the talk of Mr. Blaine's taking the stump comparatively little is heard here, for as this season Bar Harbor is a quiet town. Mr. Blaine is living in the utmost seclusion at Stanwood, seeing few but his most intimate friends. That his mind is actively at work, however, is shown by the fact that he is in conference with statesmen and politicians. It is said that one of the members of Mr. Blaine's Cabinet called upon Mr. Blaine last Monday in Ellenton, visiting Senator Hale, who is to take the stump very soon. Joseph H. Manley, of Augusta, came up to Ellenton Tuesday night, which he spent at Senator Hale's, and then came on to Bar Harbor and spent an hour with Mr. Blaine. Both Mr. Blaine and Mr. Manley desire to speak for publication, at present, at least. Mr. Manley, who is to return here soon, will have perfected. Mr. Blaine, it is positively asserted, will take the stump during the campaign, and do all he can for the success of his party. It is also asserted that Vice President Morton will take an active part in the campaign.

JONES' MAJORITY ABOUT 20,000. But He and Morton Will Take an Active Part in the Campaign.

NOT SURPASSED BY ANY. Description of the New Rolling Mill Added Recently to the Krupp Works.

Recently a new rolling mill has been added to the Krupp works in the Ohio Valley which, it is stated, is not surpassed by any in the world. It is for rolling armor plates, and turns out the heaviest plates of this description that can possibly be required; that is, those of about 28-inch thickness and nearly four feet wide. Some of the details of this machine may be obtained from the statement that each pair of crible rollers, when in the rough state, weighed 100,000 pounds; and the entire machine, including the crible rollers, the large furnaces, the cranes that can move 300,000 pounds, its bending presses, etc., form of themselves almost a complete plant.

THE FIRE RECORD. Paris, Feb.—The National Oil Mills, machinery and the cast-iron. Total loss $250,000. The mill has not been operated for several years.

FOUGHT THE OFFICERS. Four Young Southerners Engage in a Street Fight.

John Evans, James O'Neil, Michael Kane and Evan Evans, four young men from the Twenty-seventh ward, came up Carson street last evening in a hilarious state of intoxication. When in front of Decker's barber shop they became involved in a quarrel and were engaged in a rough-and-tumble fight, when Officer Cochran ran up and tried to put them under arrest.

DICKINSON SELECTED To Steer the Democratic National Campaign Committee.

MR. WHITNEY TO BE AN ADVISOR.

Elaine and Morton Will Take an Active Part in the Campaign.

LIGHTS TURNED OUT ON A CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The Campaign Committee of the Democratic National Committee met this morning to organize sub-committees and map out the work for the campaign. At the time of meeting Mr. Sheehan was the only member present. One of the early arrivals at headquarters was Hon. W. C. Whitney. He was followed shortly after by Robert B. Roosevelt, treasurer of the National Committee. Lawrence Gardner, of Washington, secretary of the League of Democratic Clubs, was also present.

At 11:30 o'clock Mr. Sheehan arrived, making the committee a full body. He immediately went into session. Mr. Barry was made Temporary Chairman, and then followed a discussion which lasted over two hours, and in which all members of the committee took part. At 1:30 o'clock a recess was taken for luncheon. Mr. Whitney said that the discussion was upon campaign matters generally, and that they had not decided as yet upon the Chairman of Campaign Committee. While at luncheon the committee finished its business at 2 o'clock. E. C. Wall, of Wisconsin, seconded by M. W. Ransom, of North Carolina, Hon. Don M. Dickinson was unanimously chosen Chairman of the Campaign Committee. On motion of A. F. Gorman, of Maryland, B. S. Smalley, of Vermont, was elected Secretary. Chairman Barry, of the National Committee, was authorized to appoint the necessary sub-committees, and to employ assistants and clerical force for headquarters. He immediately appointed George N. Parker, Auditor, and William Duff Hayne, of Kentucky, as assistants. Frank M. Duff, of New York, was appointed messenger.

The Campaign Committee decided that the resolution of the National Committee, contemplating the appointment of nine members of the Campaign Committee, exclusive of Chairman Barry, so today Mr. Barry added William Duff Hayne to the committee. The Advisory Committee will not be appointed for several days.

FOILED BY A TRICK. Nebraska Republicans Make No Nomination Because the Lights Go Out.

LINCOLN, NEB., Aug. 4.—After the most bitter struggle ever known in a Nebraska Republican convention the State convention adjourned at 7 o'clock this evening, without having made a nomination. The delegates will reconvene at 9:30 to-morrow morning, and the fight will be renewed. The great contest came on at 3:30, when the ballot for Governor began. The nominees were Lorenz Crouse, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; ex-Congressman Thomas Majors, Lawson Sheldon, A. E. Cady, Jack McCall and Judge Reese. The first ballot resulted: Crouse, 376; Majors, 241; Sheldon, 228; Cady, 228; Reese, 1.

There was little change on the second ballot, but when the third ballot was ordered the trouble began. Pandemonium reigned for half an hour, but at 6:45 another ballot was taken, which resulted: Crouse, 388; Majors, 317; Sheldon, 33; Cady, 60; McCall, 40; Reese, 2. After the result had been known, an effort was made to adjourn but the motion was lost. There was considerable filibustering and in the middle of it, the lights in the Opera House were turned out. A theatrical troupe was booked to play there to-night, and in order to secure adjournment the proposition of adjournment to to-morrow was brought to the convention. The play proved successful, and the convention was forced to adjourn until to-morrow.

The platform, which is lengthy, indorses President Harrison's administration and denounces Pinkertonism, and favors Government postal telegraph and postal savings banks.
